CALGARY SUPERINTENDENT TRANSFERRED TO MAINE

George J. Fox, well known Western Canada railway man and superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway Calgary division, has been transferred to Brunswick Junction, Maine, U.S.A., where he will take over a similar position.

Mr. Fox entered the service of the C.P.R. 39 years ago in Montreal. In 1910 he was transferred to Winnipeg as general clerk in the vice-president's office, and two years later was appointed yardmaster at Saskatoon. In November, 1913, Mr. Fox was appointed general yardmaster at Swift Current, and in July, 1915, general yardmaster at Fort William. In April, 1916, he was train master at Winnipeg, and the following November was superintendent at Schreiber, Ont. In March, 1918, Mr. Fox first came to Calgary, where he was appointed superintendent of the local division. He was put in charge of the Edmonton district in January, 1925, and in August, 1930, was sent to Medicine Hat in a similar position. He returned to Calgary in November, 1936, and has been superintendent of this division since then.

Mr. Fox's new duties are effective December 1. R. McKillop, of Brownville Junction, Maine, will succeed Mr. Fox in Calgary.

HILLCREST MINERS

REACH AGREEMENT

The United Mine Workers of America, District 15, Alberta-Eastern British Columbia unit of the John L. Lewis' C.I.O., was fully recognized by the Hillcrest Collieries on Tuesday of this week.

An agreement was reached by the company, represented by the manager, Mr. W. Stevenson, on the one hand, and the union, represented by Robert Livett, president of District 15, on the other hand, and general satisfaction is said to have greeted the signing of the new pact.

The agreement, which affects some 250 pit workers in the camp, expires March 31st next. There are no changes in rates, the feature being the recognition of the union. Heretofore, an independent local union has controlled this field, dealing directly with the mine management.

Negotiations looking to the recognition of the U.M.W. of A. have been in progress since last May.

FORECLOSURE ON

DOCKHOBOR LANDS

An order was issued in supreme court of British Columbia last week for mortgage foreclosure on 15,000 acres of Dockhobor property in the Brilliant and Grand Forks districts of the province. Mr. Justice D. A. MacDonald issued the order on application of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, which claims principal and interest arrears on the property owned by the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood.

Vincent Macchioni, convicted of the murder of Michael Hudock near Eveno and sentenced to hang on November 26th, has been granted a reprieve to December 17th, when an appeal will be heard.

The Bellevue Curling Club has re-organized for the 1937-38 season, with the following officers re-elected: Fred Wulstenholme, president; William Brynjen, secretary-treasurer. The club plans on having 25 rinks in operation.

HILLCREST INTEREST

IN HOCKEY IS KEEN

According to a correspondent, Hillcrest has been jolted out of that lethargic state of mind into which it had fallen.

The intermediate hockey meeting on Sunday last struck the first blow in the struggle to bring Hillcrest out of the sporting doldrums and establish it as a leading hockey centre in the Crow's Nest Pass.

The meeting was held mainly to determine whether or not such a club should be formed, and if organized, whether it would seek entry into a probable Crow League along with Coleman and Blairmore. Both suggestions received the unanimous approval of all present.

Election of officers resulted as follows: R. D'Amico, president; T. D'Ercole, secretary; K. Thornton, J. Ellick, D. Thornton, C. Richards and T. Grant, executive committee.

Work of placing the rink in fit condition will begin at once.

PASTOR SEES CIVIL

LIBERTY THREATENED

The question as to how far the state may interfere in a man's individual conscience was dealt with by Rev. Dr. Robert Paton at Scarborough Avenue United Church Sunday night.

"Until 100 years ago," said the speaker, "there was scarcely such a thing as government control except in the Poor Law. After the Reform Bill of 1832, a new centralized authority began to be imposed on private life through social legislation, and this tendency increased during the war and since. In the main this has been in the interest of the private individual and for the good of society, but soon the clash will come as to the right of the private individual to his own conscience."

"In Quebec, the Padlock Law makes it possible to padlock the premises of any man who dares to discuss Communism or even have books dealing with this subject. While we hold no brief for Communism, we believe it is the right of every individual to discuss his own point of view. Such a law might lead to the padlocking of even a prominent Canadian statesman who recently stated he had been reading Marx. We are steadily moving toward a state of fascism, where the rights of the individual can be taken from us."—Calgary Herald.

BANK ADVERTISING

The splendid series of advertising on "Facts About Banking in Canada" that appeared recently in the weekly and daily papers throughout Alberta are now apparently beginning to bear fruit, and there is an apparent better understanding among the people generally as to how banks in Canada carry on.

The Banks of Canada have too long taken it for granted that everybody thoroughly understood our banking system, whereas, as a matter of fact, very few people know anything at all about banks and banking. This is not right since banks play an all important part in the business life of any community.

We would suggest to the Bankers that they have by no means finished their task and that they would be well advised to continue their campaign of education, not only in Alberta but throughout the length and breadth of Canada.—Ex.

The remains of Joseph Lysack were laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery at Coleman on Saturday forenoon, following funeral mass in the Holy Ghost church conducted by Father Dunbar. The remains of Robert Burns were laid to rest in the Protestant cemetery at Coleman on Sunday afternoon, following service in St. Paul's United church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. J. Bevan. Both funerals were largely attended.

BLAIRMORE PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Blairmore Public Library reopened on Wednesday, when a number of old subscribers and new ones registered for the year.

In accordance with the decision arrived at at the last meeting of the board, classification of the books was started under the direction of Mr. S. White. Thanks are extended to those citizens who are donating books.

The library is able to continue at its present location through the generosity of the West Canadian Collieries, who are allowing the building to be used, free of rent, also donating fuel and light; and to support from the town council and school board, who are donating the amount of taxes on the property as from January 1st, 1938.

Present members of the library board include: Mr. D. Macpherson, chairman; Mrs. C. M. Larbalestier, secretary; Miss J. Linn, librarian; Mr. E. Williams, mayor; Mr. A. E. Boschi, chairman school board; Mr. W. H. Chappell, Mr. D. Campo, U.M.W. of A.; Rev. A. E. Larke, Rev. M. A. Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. S. White, Mr. R. Racette, Mr. Kerr, Miss G. Frey, Mr. C. M. Larbalestier, Mr. G. Erickson, Mr. Frank Morgan and Mr. Douglas Wilson.

The library will be open Wednesdays and Saturdays, from 4 to 8 p.m.

DOMINION WILL SPEND

$450,000 ON ALBERTA ROAD

Motor tourists in all parts of the country found fresh cause for enthusiasm recently when it was announced that the Dominion government proposes to spend $450,000 on further construction of the Banff-Lake Louise scenic highway next year.

Only 22 miles of that highway remain to be built, while the camps of crews working from the northern and southern ends of the project are only 23 miles apart.

James A. MacKinnon, M.P. for West Edmonton, has announced his intention of pressing the Dominion government to complete the highway next year. As the $450,000 evidently will be inadequate, the member says he will urge that a sufficient sum should be voted to finish the road in 1938, instead of leaving a small hold-over stretch for the next year.

This means that the highway would be opened to through traffic one year earlier than would otherwise be the case.

The fact that work also is proceeding on the Big Bend stretch of the Trans-Canada highway, 400 men being employed on this project as long as weather conditions will permit this winter, indicates that progress is being made in opening up the west to tourist traffic.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association declare that with Alberta moving ahead with hard surfacing projects and opening of new scenic delights in the mountains for tourists, this province should experience a big gain in traffic next year.

Andrew Halkett, former general superintendent of the C.P.R. in Calgary, was found dead beside his parked automobile in Vancouver on Monday.

Martin Kriksky represented Blairmore at the Youth Congress held in Calgary during the week, being the only representative from this corner of the province.

The body of Robert Mahon has been recovered from a shaft at the St. Eugene Extension mine at Moyie, into which he had dropped several weeks previous. In the shaft at the time was a depth of around 300 to 400 feet of water. He sank to the bottom, and practically all the water had to be pumped out before the body could be recovered.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Increases of from two to three shillings will be made in the weekly allowances to unemployed in Great Britain this winter. Rising cost of living is the reason.

A London hotel chef has been loaned to the monks of Buckfast Abbey to advise them how to obtain the maximum of efficiency at a minimum of operating cost.

Sir Robert Hodgson will be the first British agent to insurgent Spain. Announcement of his appointment was officially conveyed by a representative of His Majesty's government to insurgent authorities.

A. A. Magee, K.C., named president of Barclay's Bank (Canada) to replace the late Sir Robert Borden, was re-elected at the annual meeting. H. A. Stevenson was elected vice-president.

Two cows are the newest addition to the national zoo at Washington. Officials said they were put on exhibition for the benefit of city-bred children who may not know the origin of milk.

Emperor Haile Selassie is living "in poverty and cannot afford fire in any of the rooms of his modest home with the exception of the children's nursery," the London Sunday Referee said.

In the seven months ending Oct. 31, exports of Canadian products totalled $670,037,500, compared with $596,776,021 in the same period in 1936, the department of national revenues reports.

Mrs. Martin Johnson, for years her late husband's exploring partner, returned to New York from her first solo safari through the jungle and said she would go back next year, "to carry on Martin's work."

Gladstone creamery of Gladstone, Man., won the special award for the highest aggregate score in the three creamery butter sections at the Royal Winter Fair. Mrs. John Tait, of Meola, Sask., led the dairy butter, one-pound print class, with a score of 95.7 points.

A Good Bear Story

Hunter Was Surprised When Young Bruin Got Away

Charlie Walton, telegrapher in Lindsay, Ont., tells about a two-year-old bear which he had by the tail only to lose the animal.

After Charlie shot twice the bear started galloping around in a circle with Claire in the centre. The hunter had one bullet left. So Claire hid behind a tree and as the bear came around the corner he cracked it on the head with his rifle butt. Bruin fell in a crumpled heap.

It was evident his neck was dislocated. So Claire grabbed the animal by the tail to straighten it out. He heard a vertebrae snap back into place. He let go the tail and the bruin hopped away. The hunter was too surprised to shoot.

Cabinet Minister At School

After Entering Politics Irish Peer Took Up Carpentry

The distinction of having gone back to school after he became a cabinet minister belongs to Lord Charlesmont, who has just resigned his post as Ulster's minister for education owing to ill-health. He has always been fond of working with his hands, and soon after he was appointed he took a course of carpentry in one of his own schools, partly to improve his own skill and partly to obtain a closer knowledge of how technical schools are run, comments the News of the World. In addition to woodwork, his hobbies are drawing, fly-fishing, and music. His title goes back for over three hundred years.

Looks Like Wasted Time

Science Has Succeeded in Making Cat Do Ridiculous Things

It looks very much as if science has finally solved the riddle of what happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object. At Vanderbilt University an experimenter made a cat do what it did not want to do.

How wonderful is man in accomplishing a purpose of no possible benefit to anyone! For an electrical device deposited small battery electrodes on a spot exactly midway between the two sides of the feline cerebellum. All at once the innocent victim elevated both front legs and set on its haunches. Next it stuck its tail straight up in the air, lifted both front legs and tried to stand on its forepaws.

No self-respecting cat—and they are all, all self-respecting—would commit so preposterous an action by its own will. Unlike men and dogs, the cat never makes one move except to gain a definite satisfaction—there must be a mouse or a salmon steak in it, or else it simply is no go. What cat ever copied a dog in trying to do "dixie" unless things all at the same time?

What does science hope to accomplish by trying to meddle with a creature which cannot be improved? Rightly the cat knows itself as the greatest fighting machine and the most beautiful work of art in the world. Sincerely to move within that charmed circle of perfection, is the cat's personal and historic mission, and not all the scientists in the world are going to tilt it any different. Despite abuse and laboratory experiments the lord of the housepet will continue to cast ironic glances upon the busybody—man.—Chicago Daily News.

Gift For Princess Elizabeth

Book Written By Canadian Woman Sent To Buckingham Palace

A Canadian woman's narrative of her childhood days among the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has found a place on the book-shelf of little Princess Elizabeth.

The story is "Susannah, a Little Girl with the Mounties," and the author is Mrs. Merrill Denison, formerly of Toronto.

Of all the unformal detachments that took part in the coronation procession last May, the Mounted drew the special attention of the 11-year-old girl who may one day be Britain's queen. The princess later reviewed them.

Because of her interest in the mounted police, a copy of the Canadian woman's book was sent to Buckingham palace. Mrs. Denison had a letter from the queen's secretary saying Her Majesty was pleased to accept the volume for Elizabeth.

Mrs. Denison is the former Muriel Goggin, daughter of the late Dr. D. J. Goggin, who was the first superintendent of education in the Northwest Territories. The story concerns her childhood in and near Regina. Part of her education was received in the mountain barracks, then 3½ miles outside Regina proper. The tutor of the police commissioner's children often was tutor to little Muriel. The Goggin home was "open house" to the mounties.

Self-shining shoes, made of leather impregnated with lubricants which are forced to the surface by the heat of the feet, have been perfected in a laboratory.

Fingerprints are unchanged from childhood to old age, although they are different for every individual.

MEDAL FOR "MERITORIOUS PUBLIC SERVICE"

Dr. John M. Craigie, director of the rust research laboratory, Winnipeg, was presented with the medal of the Professional Institute of the Civil Service of Canada at the annual convention of that body in Ottawa. The award was made in consequence of Dr. Craigie's work for the elimination of wheat rust. J. C. Beauchamp, president of the institute, making the presentation, declared he believed Dr. Craigie's work came to rank with that of the late Sir Charles Saunders, discoverer of Marquis wheat. It would save western farmers in the neighborhood of $35,000,000 annually.

An Eccentric Woman

Hoarded Litter She Collected Daily From Ottawa Streets
Ettie Greenway, the "woman with the sack," was buried in Beechwood cemetery, Ottawa, after a funeral service attended by members of the city's welfare bureau who had tended her for years. The eccentric old woman, believed to have been 70, died in hospital after two weeks' illness.

For years Ettie lived alone in a decrepit house in the Sandy Hill residential area. Daily she patrolled the streets, carrying a sack, and stuffing into it waste paper, pieces of string, tinfoil and cigar butts.

In a gigantic cabinet that caused the floor of her home to sag, she stored the street litter she collected on her walks. She would let no one have access to it, believing it valuable. Sometimes she sold it to rag-pickers, but saved and smoked the cigar butts.

A red-faced, cheery woman, Ettie was deeply religious in an unorthodox manner. Often alone at night, she said, she conversed with the Deity. When the Deity didn't appear she talked to Angus, her "holy cat." She said Angus answered.

He was the brightest of all her cats. Among the others were Dick, Emie, Weenie, Miley and Eric. Most of them were destroyed when Ettie's home was demolished as unsafe, but Angus escaped.

Ettie's home was a trial to the fire department. In cold weather she warmed it by removing all the covers from the kitchen stove, the only source of heat. The red glow shining through the blindless windows frequently caused neighbors to ring fire alarms.

Plans Being Held Up

Wilkins Postponed Submarine Trip To Search For Russian Airmen
Sir Hubert Wilkins had almost completed plans for a second attempt to travel a submarine under Arctic ice toward the North Pole when he joined the search for six Russian trans-Polar airmen, the famed explorer said in an interview at Edmonton.

An order had been placed at London, England, for construction of a specially designed submarine when the search interrupted his project, he stated as he paused in Edmonton on his second flight into the Arctic to hunt for Sigmund Levanevsky and his five companions.

Building of the under-water craft was halted until after search for the Soviet fliers had been completed, the explorer said.

Sir Hubert's 1931 attempt to go to the Pole under the ice was postponed after mechanical difficulties halted his "Nautilus" on the rim of the Arctic.

His new scheme is to leave in early summer, sail under the ice and establish a base near the Pole where valuable scientific data might be gathered, the explorer declared. Advantages of Polar faunts by submarines are that tons of equipment can be carried easily and the base can be shifted when necessary to counteract ice movements, he said.

Smallest English Inn

People From All Over World Have Visited Smith's Arms

Coming Events, London, says the smallest English Inn has recently been sold by auction. It is the Smith's Arms, in the Dorchester village of Godmanstone. Built in the sixteenth century, it was until 42 years ago a blacksmith's forge. It has a thatched roof, and measures about 20 feet by 10. Its chief draw back, in the eyes of the villagers, is that there is not enough room in it to play darts! The Smith's Arms receives visitors from all over the world.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 28

CHRISTIAN FRUITFULNESS

Golden text: Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; and so shall ye be my disciples. John 15:8.

Lesson: John 15:1-16.

Devotional reading: Galatians 5: 15-25.

Explanations and Comments

Christ the True Vine, John 15:1. I am the true Vine, and my Father is the Husbandman; if a metaphor may have been suggested by the fruit of the vine which had just been used and consecrated at the Last Supper, by the many vines on the hillside, or by the odor of branches which the vine-dressers burned at that season of the year. Yet it was a well-known metaphor.

The Pruning of the Branches, verses 2, 3. Ye are the branches (verse 5); every branch in me that beareth not fruit, the Husbandman taketh away, and every branch that beareth fruit, he cleanseth (pruneth) that it may bear more fruit. By "fruit" Jesus means character, conduct, service. Useless and fruitless branches are cut off to ensure the greater fruitfulness of those that remain, and from the fruit-bearing branches the superfluous leaves are removed that no sap may be wasted. It is thought that there is a reference here to Judas and his separation from the little group of true followers. Such a kind of pruning has been necessary many times in the history of the church through the centuries.

The Blessings of Fruitage, verses 7-11. If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you. Prayer contrasted with abiding is less important than the evidences of it. "Abiding in Christ, who are one with Christ, in whom Christ's words abide and are obeyed, will ask for nothing that shall be refused." The consciousness of abiding is less important than the evidences of it.

Friendship with Christ, verses 12-17. My commandment that ye love one another, even as I have loved you. It is not affection in the sense that we usually use the word, whether lukewarm or passionate, that Christ bids us feel for others. It is the will and the effort that Christ bids us exert in seeking the welfare of others. Even as I have loved you: Christ came to seek and to save.

Epic Story Of The Sea

Sailors Snatched From Death In Shark-Infested Waters

Parched-throated sailors, snatched from death by the coast guard cutter "Mendota" after their Greek freighter, "Fanny" Chandra, was downed off Cape Hatteras, brought back aboard the rescue ship stories of a dramatic fight for life against the odds of shark-infested waters, stormy seas and conditions that drove one man insane.

A bright red gash across the nose of Capt. George Coufandopolis, master of the little vessel which plunged to the bottom of the Atlantic with the loss of seven lives, bore testimony to the harrowing struggle for survival.

The wound was inflicted by the teeth of a fellow seaman, driven mad by 32 hours of exposure in the open sea, clinging to a bit of wreckage while awaiting long-hoped-for rescuers, the captain said. The crazed seaman died before coastguardmen arrived to pick up the last 15 survivors of the crew of 28.

Romney Alexander Coyne, master of the Mendota, who said he had never seen "anything like this" in his 27 years as a coast guardman, relayed a graphic story told by the rescued of one man being pulled bodily through the water by a shark after the freighter went under—its life boats either smashed or swept away.

Joseph Corrie, 40-year-old Englishman, who said he was the last to step from the doomed vessel into the mountainous waves and the last to be picked up of those adrift, told of sharks darting at his ankles and of successfully scaring them away with a stick.

As if mocking them, overturned life boats, swept from the deck before they could be lowered, floated—wrecked—near the struggling and exhausted sailors when found.

Konstantinos Balakas, third engineer, who like his Greek fellow-spoken through interpreters, recited another chapter in the stirring drama. Balakas said the SOS, holed through the hull, brought the guardsmen shortly before daylight, was sent only after he stood over the radio operator with a knife and a threat to kill him unless the distress call went out.

Credit for introduction of the cigarette into English society is given to Laurence Oliphant; it did not become popular, however, until 1870.

Edison Memorial Bulb

Is Now Gleaming Beacon On Towers In New Jersey

The glass electric light bulb 14 feet tall, which glows as a landmark beacon atop the $100,000 Edison Memorial Tower at Menlo Park, New Jersey, was completed by the Corning Glass Works.

It took a crew of expert glassworkers eight months to complete this emblematic diadem for the tower, the task of laying the model out into curved "orange-peel like" sections consuming the greater part of the elapsed time.

The 150-foot beacon will commemorate the invention of the incandescent electric light by Thomas Alva Edison, who in 1879 sent a rough sketch of his idea to Corning, asking that a bulb of glass of definite dimensions be blown.

This original glass bulb, enclosing Edison's carbon filament became the world's first practical electric light. Corning's contribution to the memorial commemorating the event is likewise notable since the 14-foot bulb is the first globular cast job in the history of the glass industry.

In preparing the bulb for shipment more than 6,000 pounds of amber-tinted Pyrex glass were fitted atop the bulb and steel skeleton weight six inches.

When finally set up the giant bulb was transformed into a gleaming tower at night casting its rays for miles about the surrounding Jersey countryside. The inside of the bulb is outfitted with 960 incandescent electric lights with a 24-inch reflector to be utilized as an airplane beacon.

The steel frame work of the tower, which is enclosed in concrete and limestone was first erected in 1929 on the exact site of the work bench at which Thomas Edison labored over his first incandescent light bulb just a half century before.

A model bulb enclosed in a glass case was installed in a base of the tower and was linked with current from four independent sources so that its light would never be extinguished.

When a bolt of lightning struck the tower last August, a mass of tangled steel and scaffolding fell to the ground. The glass case enclosing the bulb was shattered and buried in debris but the bulb itself was left unbroken and the light was found still burning. This model bulb was also made at Corning.

The memorial to the great electrical genius—the present structure—has been fitted with stainless steel lightning arresters and has been tested against wind velocities up to 230 miles per hour.

The memorial to the gift of William Stocum Barstow, president of the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation, who provided for the erection of the Edison Pioneers, an organization composed of present Edison Company employees.

Snakes In Alberta

Rattlesnads Told To Insect District In Southeastern Part Of Province

Snakes in the Combyre district of southeast Alberta have displaced sports as a topic of conversation for the winter's "hot stove" league members.

Hundreds of rattlesnakes infest the district and many residents relate tales of narrow escapes.

The past summer was the worst season for snakes in the history of the district, first settled 28 years ago.

Mrs. P. M. Stevens pulled up a dumb waiter in her kitchen. Coiled around the front was an extra large snake. Her sons came to the rescue and shot it.

Mrs. M. Nicholson was enjoying a rest on a verandah chair. Suddenly she felt something under her feet. It was a small rattler.

The "snake year" recalled a narrow escape Percy Stevens, a farmer, had some years ago.

Ferry was out looking in a field when a huge rattler fastened on his trouser leg. He jabbed at it with his pitchfork and failing to dislodge the snake, he just "stepped out" of his trousers and fled.

The temperature of a living room should be from 68 to 70 degrees, with a relative humidity of from 40 to 50, from a health and efficiency standpoint.

Butterflies lay their eggs in sea shells and then curl themselves around the eggs until the eggs hatch.

The modern automobile is only eight per cent efficient, with regard to energy in fuel put to useful work.

W. J. BARTLETT, PUBLISHER
Blairmore, Alta., Fri., Nov. 26, 1937.

A local young lady last week celebrated her twenty-fifth birthday. And a mean cuss of a neighbor remarked: "Well, better late than never!"

This remark was made in 1935—and probably is still good: "If you are not going to let me have any say in the choice of my supporters, you will not have me as leader."

"Talks on Timely Topics," a radio presentation of the Young Men's section of the Calgary Board of Trade, will return to the air for the 1937-38 season on Thursday, December 2, over radio station CJCJ, commencing at 8 p.m., with a special message to the young men of Alberta. Young men of this community are cordially invited to tune in. The first broadcast will be devoted to an exposition of the relationships between boards of trade, Chambers of Commerce and the interests of the community at large, showing how the viewpoint of the younger generation is needed in furthering the interests of the community through such organizations.

Only a week or so ago a visit was paid to old parishioners and friends in the Pass by Rev. Father Beaton, who around twenty years ago was stationed at Bellevue and erected the beautiful St. Cyril's church there. During the past week, people of the same district had the pleasure of shaking hands with former Rev. F. T. Cook, who also some twenty years ago was Methodist minister stationed at Bellevue. Mr. Cook resigned the ministry several years ago and is now with the provincial department of health, and at present on a tour of the province lecturing on "Social Hygiene." He addressed a number of meetings in The Pass during the week.

A car driven by Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines in the provincial government, struck a lad named Vernon Hartley on the Macleod trail near Calgary on Sunday, November 14th. The lad suffered internal injuries. Mr. Tanner assisted the boy to his feet, and the latter assured him he was not hurt. Later in the week, however, it was reported that the boy was suffering from internal injuries. Mr. Tanner is said to have immediately got into touch with the lad's parents and their physician and reported the incident to the police. Mr. Tanner was enroute to Edmonton, and upon learning of the boy's predicament he returned to Calgary from Olds. The boy is reported recovering.

An event which will long be remembered by the citizens of Jasper occurred at the annual Armistice ball, when President Harry Dixon, of the Jasper branch of the Canadian Legion, presented Dr. Thomas O'Hagan with the gold service button and life membership, which is the highest honor the B.E.S.L. can bestow, and of the nine million members in Canada and elsewhere, only two hundred have been deemed worthy of this honor—and Dr. O'Hagan, of Jasper, is that two hundredth member. The above is interesting to Crows' Nest Pass oldtimers, who will remember Dr. O'Hagan, since prior to 1911 he practiced medicine in Frank and Blairmore. On the above occasion, Mrs. O'Hagan was presented with a box of chocolates in recognition of her patriotic work in the community.

Salaries of a staff of twelve people employed on "Social Credit registration" involved a cost to the province of $3,207, according to public accounts for the 1936-37 fiscal year released to the public by the provincial government.

Reports contained in Drumbeller papers last week to the effect that seven carloads of apples had arrived there and that they were being handed out indiscriminately, with little regard to the needy, were contradicted through the daily press. It seems that four cars had arrived, one to be taken care of by the local welfare board, the others under supervision of the Mounted Police. All four had been purchased by the Dominion government for distribution in the drought areas.

A week or so ago, Mr. Aberhart gave what was considered timely advice in urging others than himself not to refer to Unwin and Powell while they were still being considered by the courts. Then comes along one of his ministers, Hon. Solon Low, who at Cardston, before an audience, is alleged to have made this statement: "We are driving the banks and financial interests up against the wall so that the people can see what they have been doing and will make them prove their right to do as they have been doing in court." Consistent, eh?

PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1

The world's worst pest,
I'll have you know,
Is the noisy ignoramus

He comes in late
With a scuffle and a snort,
As if annoying people
Were his favorite sport.

He reads you the titles
In a voice clear and loud;
And names all the actors
To the maddening crowd.

He announces his opinions,
And tells what is good;
Explains all the actions,
Just so it's understood.

He's a noisy Mr. Know-All,
Obnoxious and ill-bred;
Or else he'd know such things
Are just not done or said.

There are robberies and murders
Upon the movie screen;
But there'll be another soon,
The worst you've ever seen.

How shall we kill this pest?
And kill him soon we will;
For one thing we've decided, is
That devil must keep still!

Protect Your Hard-Earned Savings

THROUGHOUT Canada, life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries should realize the menace to their own and the national welfare that lies in extreme and unjust legislation.

These policyholders represent 50 per cent. of the electors—federal and provincial. Through the institution of life insurance, they have so pooled their resources that their collective interest can withstand attacks that would bring financial disaster to the individual.

Despite war, epidemic, panic and depression, life insurance has met every policy obligation promptly and in full.

Despite the financial disturbance of the past six years, it has distributed, and continues to distribute, to its policyholders and beneficiaries, over $500,000 every working day.

Seventy-five per cent. of this money has been, and continues to be, paid to living policyholders; the balance to beneficiaries.

Life insurance is the greatest co-operative business in Canada. No one doubts its strength and stability. No one questions the prudent and intelligent direction of its affairs.

It is the guardian of the hard-earned savings of 3,500,000 men and women in all walks of life.

Today there are forces in Canada that menace the welfare of these people. These forces would penalize their savings and impair their investments through legislation which cancels public and private debts—regardless of the debtor's ability to pay—and which tends to destroy the ownership of public and private property.

The interests of life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries—as of all other citizens whose savings are invested in one form or another in Canada—demand that promises to pay be observed, when the debtor is able to pay; that hard-earned savings which safeguard the homes and families of the Dominion be protected from unjust legislation.

GASOLINE OVER-TAXED

For a commodity which has become a necessity in so many lines of business activity, gasoline has been loaded with a crushing tax.

In three provinces of the Dominion the tax content of every dollar's worth of gasoline purchased exceeds 30 cents a gallon and in all of them it is more than 25 cents.

The figures for the various provinces are: British Columbia, 26.25 cents; Alberta, 25.04 cents; Saskatchewan, 25.17 cents; Manitoba, 25.36 cents; Ontario, 23.69 cents; Quebec, 27.44 cents; New Brunswick, 31.65 cents; Nova Scotia, 32.08 cents; Prince Edward Island, 35.37 cents. Over the Dominion at large, it means that for every dollar a consumer puts into gasoline, 27.53 cents goes in taxes.

These figures do not indicate the complete tax content of a gallon of gasoline. They do indicate, however, those which can be directly charged by the refiner and marketer against an already over-taxed necessity.—B-23

Japan In China

The atrocities committed, not only upon combatants but upon civilians—men and defenceless women and children alike by the Italians in the recent conquest of Ethiopia, and in the present day by the Japanese in an unrelenting war of ruthlessness and horror with the Chinese as their victims, have aroused wide indignation and protest in the civilized countries of the world.

So widespread is this indignation over the atrociousness and ferocity of the Japanese onslaught in China that the rank and file of the people in such countries as Great Britain, the United States and Canada are searching their minds for feasible and effective steps which might reasonably be taken to bring to a speedy end the terrors of the Sino-Japanese conflict.

Doubtless if some effective measure could be devised to put a stop to this horrible slaughter of innocents in the Orient, without serious danger of precipitating another widespread world war in which their own countries would almost inevitably be involved, the people of these democratic countries would not be slow in urging their governments to take the necessary steps.

But there is real danger of a general debacle if one or two countries should attempt to impose measures which would be really effective in the Far East and it is this knowledge which makes the problem such a difficult one for Statesmen to handle. Undoubtedly the Japanese are fully aware of the complexities of the situation from the viewpoint of the democratic Occidentals and are taking full advantage of the situation.

In the meantime, people on this continent are doing what little they can to voice their righteous wrath and indignation by passing resolutions expressive of horror and indignation and by agreeing themselves to impose sanctions in a mild form by way of a boycott of Japanese goods, but the extent to which such measures can have a restraining influence on the conquering Japanese is open to doubt.

While Japan's proclaimed pretext for invasion of Chinese territory is the fear of the rise of Communism in a neighboring country, the real reason is the necessity for finding sources of raw materials and creating markets for rapidly expanding industrialism in a country whose population is growing at the rate of a million a year. In a nutshell, commercial gain is the motive.

But as pointed out by R. T. Barrett in The Fortnightly of London, England, Japan could have achieved these objectives in China without embarking on a militaristic campaign of almost unparalleled ruthlessness if she had attempted to secure concessions through diplomatic channels. Stating that Japan had aroused admiration in China by her achievements, Mr. Barrett says that Japan "has many friends in the Republic and could obtain the mineral and railway concessions that she wants if she would abstain from military coercion and work upon the assumption of political equality between the two nations. She could even get, in due time, favorable tariff rates for her goods and be accepted as China's tutor. Her natural advantages in competing for the trade of China would make her commercially irresistible, once she had secured Chinese friendship."

Instead of choosing the civilized method of gaining her goal, however, Japan decided to wrest what she wants from the Chinese by barbaric methods and in so doing is earning for herself, not only the ill will of 400,000,000 Chinese with all that may entail in the years to come, but the aversion of the people of many other countries of the world.

For the time being at least Japan's resort to arms appears to have brought success. She has already acquired control over a large slice of Chinese territory and her materialistic gain to date is probably enough to far outweigh in her mind any losses which may be sustained as a result of boycotts waged against her merchandise in the Occidental countries. The mental attitude which permits the Japanese to make unprovoked war on a neighboring country and in the fashion in which it is being carried out will probably result in the widespread ill will which she is incurring in other parts of the world being regarded as of no account.

But there is another aspect to the indignation which has been aroused by Japanese aggression and methods in China that is at least encouraging and this is aptly pointed out by Brooks Atkinson, dramatic critic of the New York Times, who stated in a recent article in that newspaper that "the moral standards of internationalism have been steadily improving. Unprovoked conquest for gain is to-day universally condemned. In spite of prevalent forces of evil we are not living in a period that is entirely devoid. When there are no cries of 'shame', the time will have come for lamentation."

Test Was A Success

Television Broadcast From London Received By Limer At Sea

Successful reception of television broadcasts by a liner at sea was reported by Captain A. T. Brown of the Cunard White Star liner Britannic.

Captain Brown said the experiments, believed the first of their kind ever attempted, were performed Oct. 29, 30 and 31 after the ship sailed from London.

The experiments were conducted by engineers of the British Broadcasting Corporation, who set up their receiving equipment in a vacant cabin. Captain Brown said the Britannic, until it left the English Channel, was never more than 30 miles off shore.

"The pictures were extraordinarily clear, and the sound was perfect," he said.

"They broadcast special programs from Alexandra Palace, in London, and the reception on the ship seemed excellent."

When You Fall Asleep

Different Parts Of The Brain Go To Sleep Separately

When you fall asleep, different parts of the brain go to sleep separately, like the successive winking out of lights in a closing office building.

The discovery, made with electrical tests, was reported in Science, the journal of American scientists. It was made by Dr. Hallowell Davis and P. A. Davis, of Harvard, and A. L. Loomis, D. N. Harvey and G. Hobart, of the Loomis Laboratory, Tuxedo, N. Y.

Electroencephalograms—the currents of a few millionths of a volt that flow from the head—were used to test the incoming of sleep. Padded electrodes pasted to the head picked up these currents.

The electrodes showed that some parts of the brain "shut down for the night" ahead of others. The shut-down was apparent by a drop in the amount of electricity coming from that part of the brain. The flow became irregular and intermittent.

These electrical changes showed up at the point where the would-be sleeper felt the sensation of "floating." The electrical brain power houses, when deep sleep came, were all reduced to a trickle of electricity.

British Coal Mining

Parliament To Put Through A Bill To Nationalize The Industry

The British Government made public the details of a bill to be submitted to Parliament to nationalize the British coal mining industry.

Under the bill's terms the Government will buy out the present private coal owners for £66,450,000 ($332,250,000) and all coal in Great Britain will pass into state ownership.

The bill provides for unification of coal royalties on a national basis, the establishment of a new coal commission, replacing the present coal mines reorganization commission.

Any new coal discoveries automatically will come under the control of the commission, which will attempt to reduce the number of coal undertakings and, subject to parliamentary approval, will have the authority to advance compulsory amalgamation schemes.

Machinery is to be set up for the hearing of consumers' complaints.

The work of assessing the compensation to be paid to individual coalowners out of the £66,450,000 to be set aside for the purchase of royalties is expected to take until July 1, 1942, when ownership will become fully vested in the state.

Coalowners at present number 4,300, but many of their holdings have been worked out.

The coal problem has been outstanding for many years. Under the Baldwin Government the coalowners set £150,000,000 as the price they demanded for their royalties, but they agreed to accept the findings of an arbitration board which was set up. The result was the £66,450,000 figure.

There were many protests against the board's findings, many hereditary fortunes, such as those of the Duke of Hamilton and the Marquess of Bute, are founded on coal holdings, and the Church of England has been receiving £370,000 annually from its royalties.

Starting Chinchilla Farm

Woman Animal Fancier In Alberta Purchases Two Animals

Two chinchillas, the little South American animals whose pelts are made into $100,000 coats, have been purchased by Mrs. Irene Williams, an animal fancier of Cardston, Alberta. She and her husband, the dentist, bought them for $3,500 during a vacation trip in California.

Mrs. Williams, who has had previous experience with mink, muskrat and silver fox, intends to construct a modernly-equipped chinchilla farm before next spring and care for several more pairs.

The chinchillas are descendants of a group brought from Chile westward by an American trader, and are said to be 10 or 12 years old. So elusive and scarce were they that it took the engineer three years to capture 11. Descendants from this number about 1,500.

The pair obtained by Mrs. Williams are the first brought to Alberta and the second to be imported into Canada.

The Spirit Of Optimism

Having Confidence In Your Town Or City Is Important

The spirit of optimism goes a long way with all of us, says the Guelph, Ont., Mercury. To have confidence in the future of the city of your residence, of your Province, and of the nation is of vital importance. There is no room for the joy-killers in business or public life. A nation of pessimists cannot succeed in anything. This is the time to look forward to what shall be, with assurance that the future is largely what we make it, and that spirit will soon be reflected in all industry when it dominates our daily life.

Plants Imitate Stones

In dry sections of Africa, where no rain falls for a year or more at a time, tiny plants grow and thrive on the rocky, sun-parched soil. By imitating the stones, they are unharmed by birds and beasts. Even the colors of the plants vary, always matching the particular type of surrounding rock.

Farm Problems

Urges Closer Co-operation Between The Agricultural Economies Of Canada And U.S.

Closer co-operation between the agricultural economies of Canada and the United States to provide a higher standard of living for farmers of both countries was proposed at Toronto by Norman Armour, United States minister to Canada, speaking at the opening dinner of the Royal Winter Fair.

"We devote a good deal of time, both you in Canada and we in the United States, to discussing the competitive features of our countries' activities in the agricultural world," he said.

"Competitive features, it is true, have developed, although I sometimes doubt their fundamental necessity, but I hope you will agree with me in feeling that despite the current emphasis of competition Canada and the United States have a common heritage in the soil as to suggest closer co-operation for a fuller and richer rural life."

"Much has been done already in both countries to lighten the labor of farm work and to end the physical and cultural isolation of the farm family. The current problem for the farmer is not so much one of isolation as it is of fitting the farmer into the commercial structure; of making the farm 'pay' while providing the higher standard of living we have come to regard as essential to a progressive society."

Mr. Armour said it is this farm "business problem" which it is to be hoped the two nations can eventually solve to their mutual advantage.

"The problem is not necessarily one of large farms or of small farms, or of any special commodity or crop commodities. It is as complex as life itself and in fact is the life of millions of our people on both sides of the border."

He said the United States now has the greatest farm population in its history with farm totals increasing 10 per cent in the past five years.

Prior to the depression the march was from the land to the city but now the tide has turned and never before in the United States has there been such a trend to the land.

ALICE STEVENS' RECIPES

TRY THESE STAVES BUT INEXPENSIVE DESSERTS.

It is health is expensive. In many cases it can be avoided by eating proper foods. This does not mean that expensive foods are required. Often the cheaper foods are richer in food value. Milk is one of the best. Fruits are also valuable and apples are among the most important fruits.

Fruits are much better than medicines in maintaining healthy bodies. Why not let a good supply of apples stored in the cellar take the place of the medicine cabinet?

Apples stimulate the appetite before requiring chewing. This increases the flow of the gastric juices in the mouth. This in turn stimulates the action of other digestive juices. To have all the digestive juices flowing freely is the secret of good digestion.

Milk and fruits should be used frequently as the basis of desserts. After the heavy course of the dinner, a light dessert completes a balanced meal. These desserts can be made with very few ingredients and are popular with the family.

Do you find it difficult to plan the dessert you like to try out additional recipes? Try this recipe and write me for another new recipe. It will be sent you without any charge and I think your family will like it.

Making Success Of Farming

Requires Greater Diversity Of Knowledge Than City Work

The idea that "any fool can farm" is successful—in some minds, but it is a tragic myth.

The man of woman who hopes to make a success of life in the country districts and on the land must have a greater diversity of knowledge than the person, who makes a success of his or her affairs in urban communities. Indeed, the person who knows little or nothing about land activities is astonished to discover how resourceful even farm children are and the multitude of things they can do before they are well into their teens.

Certainly, if we are to have an expansion of successful farming in the province, the old idea that "any fool can farm" must be given up. It is the minds of some in official circles—Halifax Herald.

Dousing A Post

Author Of Gray's "Elegy" Had A Nervous Dread Of Fire

A fire, happily not very serious, at Peterhouse, Cambridge, recalls a story of the poet Gray. Like David Copperfield's aunt, the author of the "Elegy" had a nervous dread of fire, and when at Peterhouse, finding his room was on the top floor, he rigged up some iron bars (still to be seen) and kept a rope ladder in readiness for emergencies. Discovering this, some of his fellow-colleagues could not let pass such an opportunity for ragging. One night a sudden cry of "Fire! Fire!" caused the poet to rise hastily and scramble down his ladder—to land in a large tub of water placed in readiness by practical jokers. After which it was not surprising that Gray migrated to Pembroke—Manchester Guardian.

These Vegetables Travel

Come Back To Be Sold Where They Were Grown

Writing in the London Spectator, Sir William Beach Thomas notes a curious circumstance connected with a "harmless hamlet" with which he is familiar. The hamlet lies on the edge of Bedfordshire.

When the people of the hamlet want vegetables, they go to the greengrocer. The greengrocer gets his supplies from a semi-homeowner who lives eight miles away and circulates his lorry twice a week. The wholesaler, in turn, gets his vegetables from Covent Garden, and Covent Garden gets a good many of them from Bedfordshire, just beyond the doorstep of the "harmless hamlet." Vancouver Province.

Arctic Patrol

Esquimaux Furnish Much Needed Food To Royal Canadian Mounted Police

A fortunate meeting with a group of Esquimaux, who were well supplied with meat saved an Arctic patrol of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police from serious hardship last winter, it was revealed in the annual report of the force.

The patrol, a comparatively routine one, covered more than 1,000 miles, travelling south from Pond Inlet on the northwest corner of Baffin Island to Foul Bay on the northeast coast of Melville peninsula and back to Pond Inlet by a more westerly route touching Admiralty Bay and Eclipse sound.

On the first few days of the trip deep soft snow made heavy going for the dog teams and then came storms which held up progress for two days. Dog feed ran low and the tired animals had to be put on short rations.

One dog had to be shot and another carried on a sled. Caribou tracks were noticed but only two animals were seen and the party was unable to bag either. An unsuccessful attempt was made to kill seal for the dogs.

However, after three weeks' travelling, when things were looking really black, the patrol reached an Eskimo sealing camp on a small island in Foxe basin. Eight Eskimo families were in the camp and they were well supplied with meat so a quantity was purchased for the dogs.

The patrol consisted of Acting Lance Corporal Gray, Special Constable "Komanapik" and a guide named "Kipponne" with two dog teams. They visited the Eskimo settlements in the district to collect vital statistics and game returns.

Only Recipe For Peace

Loving Your Neighbor As Yourself Says Sir Evelyn Wrench

The Kellogg-Briand Pact, designed to establish amity among nations, failed because world nations were "further advanced than they actually were," Sir Evelyn Wrench, founder of the English Speaking Union, said in an address at Toronto.

"After 25 years of travelling about the world," told the Ontario branch of the Union, "I have come to realize that the only way to save humanity is to put into effect the simple doctrine of the Founder of Christianity—love thy neighbor."

"During my travels on this great continent I have often paused to think what a wonderful thing it would be if we could find such brains as those that built the great San Francisco bridges, the trans-Canada railways through the Rocky Mountains, to pound out on the anvil some political instrument to join the nations of the world."
